Short CV

Felix Müller has studied Biology and Geography at the Universities of Kiel and Regensburg. His PhD thesis about soil-geographical investigations on the fate of pesticides and nutrients in ecosystems was published in 1987. Since that time he has been working at the Ecology Centre of the University of Kiel. FM was the scientific coordinator of the long-term R&D project "Ecosystem Research in the Bornhöved Lakes District" and has since that time participated in several national and international research projects. Since 2010 FM is affiliated as leader of the Department Ecosystem Management at the Institute of Resource and Nature Conservation of Kiel University.

The main recent research interests are ecosystem analysis, ecosystem modeling, ecosystem services and ecosystem theories, applications of ecosystem approaches at the landscape scale and the derivation of holistic indicator sets for the management of human-environmental systems. During the last years, ecosystem service investigations have become dominant in the working group and the investigation systems were expanded towards coastal and marine ecosystems.

FM has been editor or co-editor of more than 20 books and special issues and has published more than 130 scientific papers. He is editor-in chief of the journal "Ecological Indicators" and board member of a number of journals, e.g. "Ecological Complexity" and "Ecological Modelling". In 2010 FM received the Prigogine Medal of the Wessex Institute of Technology and the University of Siena. FM was the president of the German chapter of the International Association of Landscape Ecology and Secretary of the German Chapter of the International Long-Term-Ecological Research Program.
